BACKGROUND
Rocky Mountain Youth Corps (RMYC) is a 501(c)3 non-profit established in 1993 and headquartered in Steamboat Springs, Colorado.

The mission: Rocky Mountain Youth Corps engages young people in the outdoors, inspiring them to use their strengths and potential to lead healthy, productive lives. We teach responsibility for self, community and environment through teamwork, service and experiential education.

The vision: Rocky Mountain Youth Corps will be the leader in NW Colorado to provide diverse opportunities for young people to participate in outdoor based service and education for their growth, respect and responsibility to self, community and environment. We will do this through strong sustainable collaborations with project, program and funding partners and the creation of a youth development center.

The organizational goals:
- Provide opportunities for young people to personally connect to the outdoors.
- Provide life skills training through a healthy lifestyles model.
- Offer opportunities for academic success in young people.
- Provide enhanced employment opportunities through job skills development.
- Engage young people in meaningful conservation and service projects.
- Forge partnerships with land management agencies, local community services, individuals and non-profit organizations.
- Promote a sense of belonging to communities and environments.
- Employ a diverse mix of ethnic, economic, and social backgrounds to reflect our service community.
- Promote civic and social responsibility.

RMYC operates four programs:
Conservation Corps, Youth Corps, Natural Resource Internships, and Yampa Valley Science School.

Youth Corps and Conservation Corps engage youth and young adults in the outdoors by putting them on crews of around 10, with 2 adult leaders to perform community and environmental service projects, mainly on public lands. Projects include trails, forest management, historic preservation, and parks and campground maintenance. They live and work together for extended time periods in the summer. We serve ages 11-25 years. Youth ages 11-13 are volunteers, and they work closer to home. Youth ages 14 and up are paid a wage, and youth/young adults over 17 can earn an AmeriCorps Education Award (voucher) for higher education in addition to their payroll. Young adults crew members live and work outdoors 24/7 for a minimum of 10 weeks, and up to 20 weeks.

We have a required education program. Ultimately, we are preparing youth for a healthy, productive adulthood by teaching independent living skills, job skills, and healthy lifestyle behaviors. We are a no-tolerance, drug free program. RMYC is the largest employer of youth in northwest Colorado.

Our Natural Resource Internship Program engages young adults in conservation career positions within public land management agencies such as the Bureau of Land Management; US Forest Service; National, State, and local Parks, and more. Many of these interns go on to pursue lifelong careers in natural resource management.

Finally, our Yampa Valley Science School program brings every 6th grader from Routt County to a remote camp each fall, during school, for 5 days and three nights to learn about their science curriculum through hands-on, experiential lesson activities. The students leave with greater excitement for learning about science, and more prepared for school.
INTRODUCTION to RMYC’s STRATEGIC PLANNING PROCESS

John M Bryson, in his text on Strategic Planning defines strategic planning as a “disciplined effort to produce fundamental decisions and actions that shape and guide what an organization is, what it does, and why it does it. At its best, strategic planning requires broad scale information gathering, an exploration of alternatives, and an emphasis on the future implications of present decisions. It can facilitate communication and participation, accommodate divergent interests and values, and foster orderly decision making and successful implementation”. The strategic plan is designed as an active, living, dynamic document that is the Board’s primary tool for determining whether the goals for their trusteeship are being met. The process must have the extensive involvement and leadership of the Board, CEO, staff, community, partners, clients, and other stakeholders of the organization.

RMYC’S STRATEGIC PLANNING PROCESS

RMYC engaged the consulting services of the Colorado Institute for Excellence with Ellen Kendall and Heather Martyn. The consultants worked with the Strategic Planning committee: Avrom Feinberg, Board Vice-Chair; Darcy Owens-Trask, Board Member; Mary Ann Duffey, Alumni Board Member; Gretchen Van De Carr, CEO; Mark Wertheimer, COO; Chrissy Lynch, CFO; and Ryan Banks, Program Director.

The process involved two primary data gathering steps:

1. Internal Stakeholder Analysis – The process begins with an internal assessment of the efficacy of the organization by board and staff to determine key topics to be addressed. The Affinity Diagram and Priority Matrix approaches were used to gather detailed feedback. CIE interviewed all 13 current staff members, 3 alumni staff members, 8 of 13 current board members, and 1 alumni board member. The results were compiled by the consultant in order to maintain confidentiality.

2. External Stakeholder Analysis – Feedback from external stakeholders was gathered through personal interviews between these stakeholders and RMYC board of directors and staff. This feedback included advice and resources that was integrated into the working plan. Interviewees included 61 stakeholders, many of whom represented multiple areas: 33 funders/donors; 16 project partners; 14 program partners; 12 parents; 10 alumni staff/participants; 10 community leaders; 8 alumni board members; and 5 corps associates.

The following Strategic Initiatives and Operational Improvements serve to increase the overall organizational quality of services and functions.

Strategic Initiatives are directives that move the organization towards its vision and address topics that are relevant to the organization as a whole. The four Strategic Initiatives are primarily led by the board.

1. VISION: Clarify the long-term vision, mission, goals and core values of the organization;
2. SUCCESSION: Refine the staff succession plan;
3. FINANCIAL SUSTAINABILITY: Strengthen long-term financial sustainability through diversified funding and increased endowment and planned giving; and
4. DIVERSITY, EQUITY & INCLUSION: Enhance diversity, equity and inclusion across the organization.

Operational Improvements are more internally focused topics that make the organization more effective and efficient. The three Operational Improvements are primarily led by the staff.

1. Improve and systemize overarching organizational and administrative processes;
2. Improve and systemize critical program processes;
3. Improve and systemize the senior staff excellence plan.
